HISTORY OF BOHEMIAN HALL & BEER GARDEN

In the late 1800's, many Czechs (Bohemians) and Slovaks fled the oppression of Austria-Hungary and made their way to America. Many such people found a home in Astoria, Queens.

In 1894, the Bohemian Citizens' Benevolent Society of Astoria was formed, named after the medieval Kingdom of Bohemia in the Holy Roman Empire. The Society began raising funds for a home for the Czech people in our community. It was to be a haven where the traditions of the homeland would be maintained.

Two adjacent lots, part of a farm, were purchased on October 1, 1910 and the cornerstone of Bohemian Hall was laid. Older people of the Society remember hearing stories of raising funds at a penny a brick! Members who were masons, plumbers and electricians volunteered their services to build Bohemian Hall. These men transformed a patch of Long Island farmland into an authentic European Beer Garden.

Bohemian Hall was actually built in three sections. What is today the entrance, was the first Hall. It soon became obvious that more space was needed. In 1919, the Main Hall, currently known as Josef Voves Hall, was added. The outside Bar and Garden were also completed the same year. As fate would have it, Bohemian Hall & Beer Garden was finished just in time for prohibition, which banned the sale of alcoholic beverages in America for over a decade! Despite prohibition, Bohemian Hall & Beer Garden survived. At one time, there were three beer gardens in Astoria and over 800 beer gardens in New York City.

Only Bohemian Hall survives to carry this proud tradition into the next century.
